The facility did another round of COVID-19 testing today and another resident was found to be positive. The facility will continue to test both residents and staff twice weekly because of cases within the facility and the high rate in the community. The community/county rate has risen sharply from approximately 16% to 20% in the past few days. Some of this may be attributed from family gatherings during Thanksgiving and open visitation in healthcare facilities.

We do advise our visitors about the risk of exposure between them and the individual they are visiting. They are screened into the building however they may not have any signs or symptoms at that time. Many people believe they can't get, or spread, the virus if they are vaccinated. This is false thoughts. Our facility communicates with Public Health for additional support and direction frequently. Most of our resident's families have also been very supportive.

Thank you for your ongoing support throughout this pandemic. It has been very frustrating for us all as we endeavor another outbreak.
